Introduction:

It is a significant day for journalists especially living in Maharashtra, on every 6th January which is celebrated as Journalism day. We must remember the father of Indian journalism Shree Aacharya Bal Gangadharshastri Jambhekar popularly known as Balshastri Jambhekar. He founded ‘Darpan’ Daily Newspaper in both English and Marathi. On the occasion of Press Day, the Library and the Marathi Department invited the editors, deputy editors and news correspondents of various newspapers in Satara district to the college.

Objectives:

1. To celebrate ‘National Journalist Day’.
2. To honour the social contribution of news reporters and news papers.

Resource Person:

Principal Dr. Shivling Menkudale, Auditor, Rayat Shikshan Sanstha’s Satara.

On this occasion, Dr. Shivling Menkudale, Auditor of Rayat Shikshan Sanstha and Principal of the College, said that journalism has a unique importance in a democratic system of governance and it is because of journalists that moral values have survived in the society.

The news items published in various newspapers of various activities of the college were displayed in glass panels. The purpose behind this was to spread the word about the activities of the college to the society.

The exhibition was inaugurated by Chandrasen Jadhav, Editor, Gramodhar and Suresh Chinchkar, Senior Journalist, Dainik Aikya. The introductory speech of the program was made by Dr. Jayashri Aphale, NAAC Coordinator. Dr. Ghanshyam Giri, Head of Marathi Department introduced the guests. The head of the library department, Mrs. Asha Jirage extended the vote of thanks and gratitude.

Beneficiaries:
